

INSOMNIAC RELOADED: FIRST HALF

Trailer for 'High Speed'

Ethan Johnson & Declan Adams

The hotly anticipated buddy-weed-comedy High Speed is almost here! Check out this EXCLUSIVE trailer, and make sure to set your calendars for "SOON"!

Eight Portraits

dir. Noah Gehman

Noah Gehman's films always have a uniquely observational style - a curiosity found in quiet moments on the street and at home. With a graceful and tender camera that evokes the work of Abbas Kiarostami, Eight Portraits is another lovely entry in Noah's filmography.

BUMP

dir. Mazyiar Khatam

A slice-of-life confrontation captured from a distance that, as the camera inches closer, reveals a deeper look at each character's psyche. Written and performed with a great blend of naturalism and precision. If director Mazyiar Khatam ever wants to adapt BUMP into a stage play, we'll be there opening day!

I Had a Dream of a House at Night

dir. Charlie Galea-McClure

Director Charlie Galea-McClure uses this film's brilliant sketchbook-esque animation style to physically and thematically rip into a home, a mind, and into the film itself.

Ahu's Journal

dir. Weeda Azim

A beautiful exploration of the search to escape reality. Ahu's Journal is an endlessly rewatchable experience of finding solace through fiction and memory.

A Voice Through the Melt

by Natalie Wee and Anda Zeng

I would like to visit

dir. Muhammad Nour Elkhairy

Muhammad Nour Elkhairy's quietly powerful film shows us how systems of oppression use bureaucracy to make what is simple - human rights, moral right and wrong - appear complicated.

INSOMNIAC RELOADED: SECOND HALF

Skate Recital

by Jay-Marie and Sai

Tits First Through the Piss
Ryan Al-Hage & Emma Cosgrove

GIVE ME GIVE ME MONEY!

We Need to Talk about #TheVaccine
dir. Adrian Patterson

Writer/Director/Editor/Star Adrian Patterson takes a funny, incisive look at the loneliness of online content creation, and the hollowness of our current culture war.

H.O.M.E (Hoarding Old Memory Eggs)
dir. Marcella Moliner

Director Marcella Moliner incorporates sentimental objects into this hypnotizing animation that finds both beauty and horror in our relationship with material things.

INSOMNIAC RELOADED: SECOND HALF

i think too much
dir. Joy Li

Spiraling thoughts while trying to fall asleep reflected through a spiral of online posts. A moment where time is on the brain leading to the questioning of time itself, of memories, and of an individual's place in the universe.

Reach the Sky

Daniel Sterlin-Alman, Stephen Jackman-Torkoff, Shaun Brodie, Queer Songbook Orchestra

Featuring one-of-a-kind crocheted design work and fluid stop motion animation, this gorgeous music video is a celebration of queer life past, present, and future.

iiiiiiiiiiii
dir. Omneya Tollar

Director Omneya Tollar's experimental epic takes us on a journey through couches, chickens, mazes, plastic, and much, much more.
